The current pandemic has affected senior living operators in many ways and will undoubtedly change the way we do business for many years to come. We all continue to learn many important lessons, most of which will ultimately make us all much stronger.

With power through partnership, AssuredPartners Senior Living has teamed up with many business partners and friends to assure we are doing the absolute best job we can during this difficult time. We are proud of their commitment to your industry. We believe this Town Hall brings the best of the best from several different disciplines together. Each will discuss the impact they are witnessing within their field and offer creative advice on how to prepare for the new normal.
